ARMED JEWS
ARE ARRESTED
IN PALESTINEDEATH TOLL IS 24;
MISSING BRITISH OFFICERS HUNTED

BY OSGOOD CARUTHERS
Jerusalem, June 19. (AP)—British troops pressing a broad hunt for six missing British officers killed two Jews in a clash near the Lebanese border today, raising to 24 the death toll of dead in the third day of violence in the turbulent Holy Land.

The latest clash occurred in the village of Kfar Giladi as troops and police joined in searching and blocking off huge areas of Palestine. Three other Jews were injured in the battle.

The apparent kidnapping of a sixth British officer was disclosed earlier today.

Hideouts Combed
British soldiers with automatic weapons searched houses and patrolled streets of Tel Aviv, all-Jewish city of 200,000. Tel Aviv became a dead city under a strict curfew imposed at 5 a. m. this morning, with almost all residents remaining behind locked doors.

Tonight army officers said the curfew would be lifted at midnight when search operations were completed. The curfew had been slated to extend until 4 a. m. tomorrow.

Night and day squads of police and soldiers operated in and around suspected hideouts of Hagannah, underground Jewish movement, arresting scores of suspects and uncovering hoards of illegal weapons.

The kidnappings have been attributed to Irgun Zvai Leumi, an illegal Jewish movement, but the wave of attacks on a military scale against frontier bridges connecting Palestine with its neighbors and against Palestine rail centers was believed to be the work of the larger Hagannah organization. As yet officials have discovered no underlying unity between the operations of these two dissident underground organizations.

Held As Hostages
Police believed the latest missing officer, British Maj. H. B. Chadwick, as well as his five fellow officers abducted yesterday, may be held hostage by the Irgun group for two of its members now under sentence of death for raiding a British military camp in March.

A grapevine report from Tel Aviv, where all Jewish premises now are off limits to British personnel, spread word that the hostages would be released if the two Irgun members' sentences were commuted to life imprisonment.

Troops of the British Sixth Airborne division in Tel Aviv erected roadblocks at every corner and established posts for checking the identity of persons abroad every 200 or 300 yards.

A large force of British troops and police detachments launched an exhaustive hunt for the missing officers in Jewish settlements adjoining the Palestine-Lebanese frontier.

All roads through upper Galilee, northern portion of the Holy Land, were blocked off. Telephone communications were cut to prevent alarm signals from being spread to nearby settlements and troops fanned out in the search.

Authorities Puzzled.
Neither British army officials, authorities of the Palestine government nor heads of the Jewish agency would comment officially on what was behind the sudden widespread terrorism which put Palestine virtually under a state of military siege.

Rebuilding Started
In Tornado-Ravaged
Border Communities

Detroit, June 19. (AP)—River Rouge and Canadian communities hit by a tornado began rebuilding shattered homes and business blocks today as the death toll climbed to 15.

Flood damage in areas east of Windsor was estimated to have reached $5,000,000.

The 15th victim of the Monday night tornado was Mario Beaman, 29, of Riverside, New Brunswick. He was visiting his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Beaman, of Ojibway, when the twister struck. The Beamans were both killed.

Of 129 persons admitted to Windsor hospitals, 27 remained today. Five are considered critical cases; one woman is not expected to live.

Canadian flood damage, affecting crops, livestock and property continued to mount. The townships bearing the brunt of the damage are about 30 miles north-east of Windsor.

SENATE LOSES
3 SIGLER FOESSen. Girschbach Of Soo
Faces No Opposition
In The Fall

Detroit, June 19. (AP)—Two of Kim Sigler's three bitterest foes will be absent from the state senate for the next term.

Sen. Ivan Johnston, Macomb county lawyer who is under indictment by Judge Herman Dehnke's grand jury on perjury charges, was defeated by Bruce Clothier, Lapeer county farmer. Johnston heads a senate committee charged with investigating expenditures of the state grand jury for which Sigler was special prosecutor.

Sigler and Johnston had many bitter clashes over the investigation and the latter finally started suit against Sigler for slander. Sen. H. D. Tripp, one of the committee members was renominated Tuesday by voters of the Eighth district. Sen. McDonald, of Flint, the third member, did not seek reelection.

In early returns, Johnston was the only incumbent reported defeated for either the senate or the house. At least six incumbent senators will return to their posts next term without further contest. They include:

Sen. Don VanderWerp, veteran congressman and chairman of the senate finance committee. VanderWerp who also runs a newspaper at Fremont has no Democratic opposition in the general election. Sen. George Girschbach (R) Sault Ste. Marie, successful in his reelection in the fall. Girschbach earlier announced his intention to run for governor, but later withdrew he said to aid party harmony.

Ceiling On Potato
Prices Suspended

Washington, June 19. (AP)—Price ceilings on potatoes—restored during the railroad strike emergency—were suspended by the OPA today.

The agency said that while today's suspension order is effective only through June 26, it expects to announce a 60-day extension of the order shortly.

SOVIETS HAVE
ATOMIC PLAN
OF THEIR OWNABOLISHING VETO IN
U. N. REJECTED
BY RUSSIANS

BY FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

New York, June 18. (AP)—Soviet Russia today rejected a United States proposal to abolish the veto on atomic matters and formally presented its own atomic control plan which would put the whole system of control under the security council and the United Nations set-up.

Andreï A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, told the United Nations atomic energy commission, that an atomic commission he proposed for control of all atomic matters must conform to the principles laid down for the operations of the security council.

Gromyko said he made this statement because some efforts were being made to "undermine" the principle of unanimity of the powers. This principle provides that each of the five big powers can block by veto any substantive question arising in the security council.

First To Declare

Bernard M. Baruch, United States representative on the commission, proposed a different scheme of atomic control last Friday when the commission first met. Baruch also emphasized that the United States would accept no veto on atomic matters.

Russia was the first power besides the United States holding the veto right to declare itself. China's delegate, Dr. Quo Tai-chi, immediately followed Gromyko today with the flat declaration that China would yield its veto right on atomic matters if the other veto-holding powers would do likewise.

Great Britain pledged fullest possible cooperation to the United States in helping shape a plan for atomic control but its delegate, Sir Alexander Cadogan, made no reference to the veto. France has not declared its position.

Brazil and Mexico briefly stated their endorsement of the Baruch plan and the commission then adjourned until 3 p. m. E.D.T., next Tuesday.

Differs With U. S. Plan

Russia formally proposed: 1. Conclusion of an international agreement for the outlawing of atomic energy as a weapon of mass destruction.

2. Organization of a commission for the control of atomic energy. The first point would bind the contracting parties to the following obligations:

(A) Not to use, in any circumstances, an atomic weapon; (B) To forbid the production and keeping of a weapon based upon the use of atomic energy; (C) To destroy within a period of three months from the entry into force of this agreement all stocks of atomic energy weapons whether in a finished or semi-finished condition."

The agreement would be open to signature by all states whether or not they are members of the United Nations. The Russian plan differs in several instances with the United States proposal laid down by Baruch last Friday.

World Authority Favored
The United States proposed the creation of an international atomic development authority "to which should be entrusted all phases of the development and use of atomic energy, starting with the raw material and including:

"1. Managerial control or ownership of all atomic energy activities potentially dangerous to world security.

"2. Power to control, inspect, and license all other atomic activities.

"3. The duty of fostering the beneficial uses of atomic energy.

"4. Research and development responsibilities of an affirmative

Plans Announced
For $3,250,000
Soo Power Plant

Detroit, June 19. (AP)—The war department engineering office here today disclosed plans for erection of a $3,250,000 hydro-electric power plant at St. Mary's Falls canal, Sault Ste. Marie.

Spokesmen said the plant will replace one in operation since 1902 and will supply current to the Sault Ste. Marie area, Manistiquie, St. Ignace and intervening communities.

Bids for construction will be issued July 1.

In addition a medical officer who is within two months of eligibility for release may be discharged immediately if he is not needed in the area where he is serving. Surplus officers with less service also may be released if no suitable assignments are available.

Hidden Writing May
Help Find Degnan
Butcher-Kidnaper

Chicago, June 19. (AP)—The discovery of "hidden writing"—including more than a score of names—on the Suzanne Degnan ransom note was reported today by Detective Chief Walter Storms, who predicted it would lead them to the kidnaper-killer of the six year old girl.

The chief investigator of the baffling five months old crime said the "hidden writing" consisted of "hundreds of impressions" of names, telephone numbers and words made on the ransom note from writings on sheets above it in a writing pad.

Storms discussed the new clues after the Chicago Daily News announced in a copyrighted story that one of its staff artists, Frank San Hamel, had discovered the tracings on a photograph of the note when he was preparing it for reproduction in the paper.

The News said the FBI office in Washington, which had examined the original note for fingerprints, was asked after San Hamel's discovery to reexamine the note for hidden writing.

Although the FBI reported its experts could find no hidden writing on the ransom note, Chicago police were optimistic about the new clues.

Inquiries made by police after the Daily News turned its discovery over to authorities, Storms said, established that the pad of paper came from somewhere in the Summerdale police district, in which the James Degnan home is situated.

Suzanne was kidnapped from the large two-family residence on Chicago's north side early the morning of Jan. 7. Her dismembered body was recovered from sewers and each body part that night.

Because impressions of at least five different handwritings have been found on the note, Storms said officers believe the pad might have been used for taking notes at a store counter or at a telephone.

TRIESTE IS KEY
TREATY PUZZLEMinisters See Problem
As Main Bar To Peace
In Europe

BY JOSEPH DYNAN

Paris, June 19. (AP)—The foreign ministers conference agreed today on one minor economic clause for the Italian peace treaty, as diplomatic sources predicted that unless the key problem of Trieste was solved, the "de facto" division of Europe which had existed since the war's end would last "many years."

A British informant said the ministers agreed quickly on a clause protecting the rights of Italian nation and property in areas to be ceded to other nations, chiefly France and Yugoslavia.

It has been agreed in principle that both these nations will obtain frontier rectifications.

This was one of four minor economic clauses discussed. The balance of the session found the ministers in disagreement on clauses concerning restitution of Allied property in Italy, expropriations, and compensation to Allied nationals in Italy for personal injuries.

U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin cut short today's session to permit French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault to attend the meeting of the constituent assembly which elected him provisional president of France.

Countess Denies
She's Acute In Spy Case Appeal

Detroit, June 19. (AP)—The former Countess Marianna Von Moltke, still seeking her release from a conviction on espionage charges, today denied in an appeal that she was "an intelligent, mentally acute woman."

Federal Judge Ernest A. O'Brien had used the phrase in denying her petition several months ago for a writ of habeas corpus. She insists that she could not understand English nor the charge against her.

The 46-year-old German born countess has been in the Detroit house of correction for two years.

RECORD ENROLLMENT

East Lansing, June 19. (AP)—A record high of 4,061 students are enrolled for the summer session at Michigan State College with the completion of registration Tuesday, Registrar Robert S. Linton reported today.

Of the total, 2,952 are men, and 1,109 are women. The largest previous summer school enrollment was 2,690.

KIM SIGLER

FOES IN NOVEMBER—The race for election to the governorship of Michigan this November will be between Murray D. Conditions In Poland
Near Explosive Point

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, June 19. (AP)—Diplomatic informants said today that political conditions in Poland are approaching a critical, perhaps explosive point. Terrorism is widespread and the possibility of a bloody upheaval is not discounted.

The state department, as the latest in a series of moves reflecting concern over the situation, has asked Ambassador Arthur Bliss Lane at Warsaw for a full report on action of the Polish government in closing six district offices of the Polish Peasant party in the last six weeks.

The Peasant party is the political support of Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, who is a member of the Communist-dominated coalition government because the United States and Britain insisted that he should be there. Russia, on the other hand, backs in general the other members of the government.

Poland is getting ready for a referendum June 30 on a Communist-supported proposal to create a unicameral legislature. Mikolajczyk is fighting this change.

Whatever happens in Poland is considered certain to be of direct concern to the United States, Britain and Russia. London and Washington are particularly interested in seeing that Mikolajczyk's power is not smashed by repressive police measures deliberately designed to wreck his leadership.

There are in the country an estimated 350,000 Russian troops, officially to protect supply lines to the Soviet zone in Germany. There is a small but powerful underground army known as the "NSZ," which has a disciplined force of an estimated 50,000 or more. There are uncounted hundreds if not thousands of ordinary bandits of no political significance.

If conditions get too tense the underground presumably might try to bring off some sort of uprising against the government in what probably would be a terrible but very short-lived struggle.

That still would leave a gap of 2,757,000 tons between the food imports in Latin American nations and expanded exports from countries with food to spare, the former president said, Latin American shipments should total 2,120,000 tons. That is an increase of 800,000 over previous estimates.

Hoover reported that Colombia, Venezuela, Chile, Peru and Uruguay all have reduced their cereal and fat imports to a minimum. Mexico, Ecuador, Chile, Peru and Uruguay are boosting exports of beans, rice, meat, fats or sugar, according to what they have.

Brazil, ordinarily the largest Latin American wheat importer, has reduced her intake more than 40 per cent.

GERMAN BLAST
TAKES 83 LIVESAmmunition Stored In Salt Mine Blows Up
At Haenigsen

Haenigsen, Germany, June 19. (AP)—At least 83 German and foreign workers were believed today to have been killed by an explosion of 10,000 tons of German army ammunition stored in an unused salt mine in this village, 20 miles northeast of Hannover.

The blast, touched off by the 2,600-foot deep mine yesterday by a fire of undetermined origin, flung large steel girders of the pithead gear hundreds of feet and tore the roofs off most of the mine buildings. It was heard 50 miles away at Brunswick.

The 20 Ukrainian displaced persons and 63 Germans who were working in the mine were believed to have died instantly. Although 400 persons were working on the surface at the time, none was hurt.

British soldiers fought fires at the mine head for 18 hours before extinguishing them. It will not be possible, however, to enter the mine for several days.

All types of German ammunition had been stored in the mine at three levels—40, 70 and 100 feet below the surface. The ammunition was being removed at the time of the explosion.

It was believed that half the stores exploded when the fire broke out on the 70-foot level. Some 10,000 tons were believed to have remained intact.

GRAFT BUSTER
WILL OPPOSE
VAN WAGONERLANSING OFFICIALS
DISAPPOINTED AS
BROWN LOSES

BY JACK L. GREEN

Detroit, June 19. (AP)—Fiery, dramatic Kim Sigler, ousted graft-busting prosecutor of Ingham county's grand jury, won the Republican nomination for governor in Tuesday's election, with a plurality of 48,000 votes over three opponents.

He will oppose Murray D. Van Wagoner, Democratic governor in 1940-42, who reentered politics with a sound three to one majority over William J. Cody, vest pocket sized circuit court commissioner from Wayne county.

Keyes Leads Ticket
News of Sigler's decisive victory brought gloom to official Lansing where the entire administration of retiring Gov. Harry F. Kelly had backed Lieutenant Governor Vernon J. Brown for the nomination.

With less than 120 precincts still missing, Sigler polled 166,411 votes to 117,781 for Brown and defeated him outside as well as in populous Wayne county.

The other two Republicans on the primary ticket for governor Raymond J. Kelly and Edward J. Jeffries, gained 89,010 and 64,314 votes respectively.

Dr. Eugene C. Keyes, of Dearborn, who was elbowed out of the lieutenant governorship in 1944, led both parties to win a place on Sigler's ticket as Republican candidate for the second highest office.

Another Kelly In
Van Wagoner will be paired next November with Osmond Kelly, former mayor of Flint, who was unopposed for lieutenant governor on the Democratic ticket.

All of Michigan's 17 congressmen, eight of whom were unopposed, seemed assured of renomination. So did U. S. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg who had no Republican opposition, and his Democratic opponent, James H. Lee, who stood alone on his party's ticket.

Brown conceded defeat at 10:30 a. m. today after Sigler's Wayne county plurality grew to victory in a partial repudiation, pledged himself only to "serve the best interests of the Republican party."

"It's over, of course," he told reporters. But he declined to pledge himself to work for Sigler's election in November, saying instead:

"I will see what will be seen." Gov. Kelly, to whom the defeat of his chief lieutenant was at least a partial repudiation, pledged himself only to "serve the best interests of the Republican party."

Earliest In History
Four other members of Lansing's official family announced that, despite the defeat of Brown, they will seek renomination to their offices at the GOP convention in Detroit July 5.

They are Secretary of State Herman H. Dignan, treasurer, D. Hale Brake, auditor general, John D. Morrison and Attorney General John R. Cuthbert.

Over 550,000 voters took part in the earliest primary election in Michigan history. The total exceeded that of 1944 and 1942, but

COUNTY FAIR DATES FIXED

Menominee Dairy Day May Be Cancelled, Report

Marquette—Virtually all county and local fairs and farm shows will be continued this summer, directors have notified the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau.

Only exception is the Menominee county Dairy Day, tentatively set for August 4, but which may be cancelled. If it is held, it will take place at Shaker Lakes, west of Stephenson, and will feature the showing of the 32 high producing cows in the county. There also will be a speaking program in the afternoon and races for children.

The Iron County Agricultural Society has set August 21, 22, and 23 as the dates for the Iron County Fair. Special feature of this fair will be the WLS show, "A Night in Switzerland," to be presented on the afternoon and evening of the last two days. Horse pulling contests will take place on Friday, August 23.

Dickinson county's fair, which will feature the Lucky Lott Hell Drivers and The Skerbeck Carnival as well as an excellent dairy show, will be held from August 30 to September 2.

Dudley P. Aldrich, secretary of the Pickford District Agricultural Society, reported the sports and other entertainment features have not yet been planned for the Pickford fair, but it will take place from August 31 to September 3.

Light and heavy horse pulling contests and display of agricultural products and 4-H club work features the fair to be held at the Stalwart fair grounds September 10 and 11.

Usual premiums will be awarded at the Gogebic county fair, dates of which have been set as August 19, 20 and 21. It will be held in Ironwood.

Slash In China's Army Forces May Be Aid To Peace

Washington, June 19 (AP)—A plan to slash China's armed forces to a fraction of their present numbers and otherwise "promote peace and unity" in that war-torn country was laid before congress today.

Top-ranking officials of the state, war and navy departments outlined the program to the house foreign affairs committee. The committee is considering a bill to provide military assistance to make China's reduced forces more efficient.

Main points in the program, being worked out by General George C. Marshall, special representative to China, include:

1. A reduction of the Chinese army to 60 divisions, instead of its present strength of from 250 to 375 divisions.
2. An amalgamation of the Chinese Nationalist and Communist armies into one unit, with a ratio of five Nationalists to one Communist.
3. Sending of a military mission of 1,000 Americans to China to train its personnel.
4. Maintenance "until stability returns" of approximately 30,000 United States Marines in China.

Crop Losses Light In Recent Rains

Lansing, June 19 (AP)—Michigan field crops suffered only slight damage from the recent heavy rains and thundershowers, reports to the state agriculture department indicated today.

Damage ranged up to 10 per cent in a few scattered areas hit hardest by the storms, Clarence L. Bolander, deputy state agriculture director, reported. He said the wheat crop suffered some from driving rains.

Mufti Of Palestine Seeks Sanctuary In King Farouk Palace

Cairo, Thursday, June 20 (AP)—King Farouk of Egypt announced today that he had received the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem who had asked for sanctuary.

A communique issued at Abdin Palace said that at 8 p. m. last night (1 p. m. EST) the Grand Mufti, Haj Mohammed Amin El Hussein, "called at the palace, signed the royal visitors books and asked for an audience from King Farouk."

"The audience was granted," the communique continued, "and the Mufti told the king: 'I have taken refuge in your palace.'" Whereabouts of the Mufti, the spiritual leader of Palestine Arabs, had been the subject of widespread speculation since he fled from his place of exile in a Paris suburb early this month.

The 53-year-old Mufti is an implacable foe of Jewish immigration into the Holy Land. His flight from Paris came at a time when representatives of the Arab states were discussing methods of opposing the British-American inquiry committee's recommendation for the immigration of 100,000 Jews into Palestine this year.

Conservationists Face New Worries

En Route to Bikini—After uranium 235 and plutonium become available in sufficient quantities for civilian power plants, there will be a new worry for conservationists, Dr. Paul S. Galtsoff, veteran marine biologist of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, tells me.

Dr. Galtsoff is one of a group of scientists who will represent the National Academy of Sciences at Bikini.

Power plants operating on radioactive piles will require great quantities of water for cooling purposes. The easiest way to get rid of this water after it has served its purpose is to let it run into the nearest river. But such water will be radioactive as well as hot, and both conditions can be very bad for fish and also for the small aquatic plant and animal forms that serve as natural fish foods.

Present atomic plants use elaborate safeguards to prevent spent cooling water from causing such trouble. These are expensive, of course, and the natural thing for commercial plants to do is keep costs as low as possible. So the old conflict over stream pollution may be reenacted in a new field.

GRAFT BUSTER WILL OPPOSE VAN WAGONER

was far below the approximately 1,000,000 totals of 1940 and 1938. It was a sweet victory for the 52-year old Sigler, who had asked nomination to offset his ouster as special prosecutor of the grand jury. He received the news quietly at his home in Battle Creek, where he sat out the election with friends.

He hailed his nomination as "a positive demand for clean and honest state government" and said he would begin his final campaign after a brief rest.

First Try Successful
Sigler won a major political office in his first try. He was Democratic prosecutor of Barry county in the 1920's and ran unsuccessfully for the state senate in 1942. Otherwise his colorful personality was little noticed outside of legal circles until his appointment to the grand jury.

His theatrical bearing, his sharp-faced dignity and his acid denunciation of the 41 men he convicted—plus those who got away—gave him a statewide reputation during the months when the grand jury's heavy hand hung over the state legislature.

When Sigler was ousted last March, he announced his candidacy for governor.

Showing surprising strength in Brown's favorite rural areas, Sigler entered Wayne county with a majority of nearly 4,000. In populous Detroit areas he boosted his lead by nearly 44,000 additional votes.

Although he carried only 24 counties, just half the number in Brown's column, Sigler was never far out of the running in any unit. And Brown's margins in outstate areas were often a slim handful of ballots. In such populous counties as Bay, Calhoun, Genesee, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Macomb, Oakland and Saginaw, Sigler ran far ahead.

Raymond Kelly, a veteran of two wars who based his platform on a strong appeal to ex-soldiers, was never a factor, although he carried 11 counties.

Mayor's Magic Fails
Jeffries, whose name has held political magic in his four terms as mayor of Detroit, failed to win a single county, despite his campaign promise of additional state aid for municipalities.

Little William Cody, whose four feet, 11 inches made him the smallest candidate, was never a match for the astute Van Wagoner. The ex-governor, letting his record do the talking and conducting a "front porch" campaign, carried county after county with ease. Lacking 297 precincts, VanWagoner had 93,791 votes to Cody's 36,637.

There were over 437,500 Republican votes cast in contrast to 130,400 Democratic.

Top vote-gathering honors fell to Dr. Keyes who, despite the opposition of the Lansing administration, polled over 170,500 votes. He was far ahead of three rivals.

CONGRESSMEN WIN OUT

Detroit, June 19 (AP)—With unofficial returns of Tuesday's primary almost complete, all of Michigan's 17 congressmen tonight seemed certain of nomination to succeed themselves on the basis of unofficial returns.

A hot primary in the Upper Peninsula's 12th district gave John B. Bennett the apparent lead for the Republican nomination. Returns from 201 to 209 precincts gave him 10,622 over 9,587 for Emil Hurja, former Democratic lieutenant to James A. Farley and New Deal political analyst.

Other seekers of the Republican bid were Louis A. Keary, Stanley W. Elder and William J. Keast, who polled low totals.

Frank E. Hook, Democratic incumbent, was unopposed for his party's nomination.

Fred Bradley, Republican incumbent, and Cecil W. Bailey, Democrat, were unopposed in the eleventh district.

High School Boys Take Over Capitol

East Lansing, June 19 (AP)—The state capital will be taken over Thursday by some 800 high school boys citizens of the ninth annual Boy's State who will set up their "mythical 49th state" with David Anderson of Iron Mountain as governor.

The boys will march to the capital from East Lansing Thursday afternoon to take over the offices at the capitol and to convene sessions of the House of representatives, Senate and the supreme court.

The boys today, by legislative action voted to advance their curfew from 10:30 to 10 p. m. daily to guarantee a minimum of eight hours sleep "as prescribed by the U. S. Department of Health." With the reveille at 6 a. m. and taps at 10:30 p. m. The boys were previously getting only seven and a half hours of sleep.

Better Job Taken By Budget Director

Washington, June 19 (AP)—Budget Director Harold D. Smith, who has supervised the spending of billions by government agencies since 1939, today joined the parade of officials leaving the federal service for better-paid jobs.

Smith resigned to become vice president of the new $7,670,000,000 International Bank under President Eugene Meyer at a tax-free salary of $22,500 a year, compared with the $10,000 less taxes which the government paid him.

be a multiplicity of factors involving such recent incidents as the discussion of the British-American inquiry report on Palestine, and the recent disappearance from exile in France of the Mufti of Jerusalem, foe of Jewish immigration and leader of Palestine's Moslems.

Huge $28,000,000 Jap Theft Involves British Army Men

London, June 19 (AP)—The Batavia correspondent of the London Daily Mail reported today the arrest of a British officer and sergeant in connection with a reported theft of a Japanese cache of $28,000,000 worth of gold, jewels and cash.

The story said the treasure had been stored by Japanese authorities in a Batavia pawnshop. After the surrender, Japanese Capt. Nakamura reportedly buried $4,000,000 of the loot in a garden and turned the rest over to a Japanese colonel who was arrested soon afterwards, the account said.

Allied authorities questioned Carla Wolf, an Eurasian girl friend of Nakamura, and persuaded her to disclose the treasure cache, the Mail reported.

The Eurasian girl, several Dutchmen and Chinese also were held in connection with the theft, the Daily Mail said in its story captioned "Greatest Robbery on Record."

The account did not say where the Japanese acquired the treasure or how Allied authorities learned it had been stolen.

Bidault Is Elected President Of France

Paris, June 19 (AP)—Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, leader of the Conservative Popular Republican Movement (MRP), was elected provisional president of France today by the constituent assembly, with the Communist party abstaining.

But the Communists, displaying a surprisingly conciliatory attitude, indicated they may enter Bidault's cabinet and that they would offer no objection to provision for a two-house legislature in the constitution which the assembly will draft for France's fourth republic.

Some 75 airplanes and approximately 250 personnel taking part in the first postwar Michigan Air Tour will arrive in Escanaba about 3:30 o'clock next Monday afternoon for their second overnight stop in the Upper Peninsula on the seven-day flight.

BOOST IN FUR IMPORTS HIT

Breeders Oppose Plan To Lift Quota Restrictions

Milwaukee (AP)—Resolutions opposing the proposed removal of import quotas and tariffs on furs were in the preparation process today as delegates to the 23rd annual convention of the American National Fur Breeders' association gathered here.

National directors of the group open sessions tomorrow, with the annual meeting slated Wednesday. The Wisconsin Fur Breeders' association will meet in conjunction with the national organization. Dr. L. J. O'Reilly, Wausau, national president, said the group was opposed to increasing imports, which were at a virtual standstill during the war.

"We could be swamped," he declared. "The American fur business is enjoying good times for the first time in many years, with good prices and a big demand."

Dr. O'Reilly explained that mink pelts that averaged about $8 before the war were selling now at $25 and that fox pelts were selling at correspondingly high prices.

Under present proposals, Dr. O'Reilly said, import restrictions of 100,000 silver fox pelts annually would be lifted and other changes made in tariff and import regulations.

Sigler Wins

COLORFUL Kim Sigler cashed in on the large amount of publicity he earned with his energetic prosecution of the Michigan graft cases by winning the Republican nomination for governor in Tuesday's primary. At this writing, he was leading Lieut. Gov. Vernon J. Brown by about 35,000 votes, a margin which was likely to increase with the reporting of additional returns.

The showing made by Sigler against Brown, who had the support of Gov. Harry F. Kelly and his strong political organization, was somewhat of a surprise to Upper Peninsula people. The politicians, who came up from downstate, opined that the race was really between Raymond J. Kelly, former state Legion commander, and Lieut. Gov. Brown.

Sentiment for Sigler was not strong in the Upper Peninsula, for a perusal of the returns reveals that Brown led him by more than four to one in Delta and two to one in Alger, Schoolcraft and Luce counties. In the Lower Peninsula, where the people are closer to the graft and corruption in Lansing, there was a deeper appreciation of Sigler's efforts to bring the criminals to justice. While he was eventually ousted as prosecutor, the record shows that he succeeded in securing the confessions and convictions of no small number of defendants.

A last minute attempt was made by State Senator Ivan A. Johnston, Mt. Clemens Republican, to embarrass Sigler by the filing a slander suit against him. The voters of Senator Johnston's own district, had their own ideas about the matter, however, for he ran last in a three-cornered race in his quest for reelection. Sigler will oppose Former Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner, Democratic nominee, in the November election. If he is elected governor, it is reasonable to expect that there will be more far flying in the state capital, which of late has sunk low in the estimation of many Michigan people.

A Simple Solution

THE proposal for drastic revision of the rules governing the appointment of supreme court justices, an aftermath of the criticism of Justice Jackson of his colleague, Justice Hugo Black, can serve only to cause a loss of public confidence in the nation's highest tribunal. The simplest solution to the whole mess is for Justice Jackson and Justice Black to resign, thereby removing the core of the suspicion and distrust.

The scheme presented by Senators Eastland and Bridges to limit the number of justices a single president might appoint to three would require a constitutional amendment. It is doubtful whether such an amendment would be adopted and in any case, the proposal would stir a tremendous political argument over an issue that is, theoretical at least, non-partisan. Nothing good could come of it, but considerable harm could result over the political battle that would result in attempting to force through the amendment.

In this case, Justice Jackson and Black could do a service to the nation by presenting their resignations, action which would forestall any need for changing the present constitutional provisions for the appointment of justices of the supreme court.

Primary Too Early

THERE was a general lack of interest in Tuesday's primary election in Delta county and elsewhere in the state.

The light vote cannot be attributed to any lack of interesting contests, however. The campaigns for the Republican nominations for governor and lieutenant-governor were unusually active, and mostly every county had lively local contests.

The apathy of the voters can be laid to the holding of the primary election in mid-June, when the thoughts of the people are dwelling on vacation plans and other personal matters. Advancement of the primary date was made in wartime to give members of the armed forces, serving overseas, an opportunity to vote in the November elections. This was a logical and laudable thing to do in wartime in order to offer the service men a chance to participate in free elections.

We feel certain there would be many more people performing their duty as citizens by going to the polls if the primary election were held in September. If we are to encourage more people to vote in the future it would be advisable to shift the primary back to the September date.

Homes and Price Control

WILSON WYATT, national housing administrator, has made a strong point for retention of price control in his warning that removal of price ceilings now would wreck the housing program.

The housing shortage is certainly one of the most pressing problems confronting the nation today. Even with price ceilings building costs have sharply advanced. If price control were abandoned, further skyrocketing of building costs would inevitably result and the program designed to provide new homes for war veterans would collapse.

Under such a condition, only persons with ample financial resources would construct new homes. There is not a very liberal percentage of veterans in this category, however.

Must Get Tough Again

AUTOMOBILE collisions, cars turning over on the highways, hit and run drivers and other traffic law offenses and offenders are again garnering the headlines in the Escanaba Daily Press and other Upper Peninsula newspapers.

Reckless driving is very noticeable on the highways and streets. These slap-happy drivers must be made to slow up. It's time for the state police, county sheriff's and police departments to get tough again.

Another Man-Killer

AS IF the atomic bomb is not enough to scare the world out of its wits, the U. S. Army announces a new horrendous weapon just in case of another war.

The new man-killer is a jet of molten metal that travels at an initial velocity of 25,000 feet a second, or roughly 250 miles a minute. The army ordnance officers are so enthusiastic about the new weapon that they can foresee the possibility of it replacing high speed bullets in aerial warfare.

The new weapon apparently has limited range so to increase its effectiveness, it would be hurled out of a rocket guided by radar. As it closed in on its target, the rocket would let go with a stream of molten metal that could penetrate armor plate of any aircraft.

Knowledge of these new weapons should make the world count ten, at least, before putting a chip on its shoulder.

"UNPRECEDENTED REVIVAL"

(Grand Rapids Press)

Adoption of the commission-manager form of government by more than 40 cities in the first five months of this year leads the National Municipal Review to conclude that "there is an unprecedented revival of local civic activity."

To some extent, widespread dissatisfaction with city governments accounts for the changeover noted. In some cases, criticism of governing bodies for curtailed municipal services, rundown streets and poor sewer and other facilities doubtless has been justified; but even the best managed cities have had their troubles, not all of them traceable to wartime shortages of manpower and materials.

The present serious condition confronting the majority of American cities has been developing over a period far longer than that covered by the war. The increasing emphasis placed on federal government for the past 12 to 15 years has had its effect; attention has been riveted on national problems and on federal attempts to solve local ones, rather than on what has been going on closer home and on how cities might work their own way out of their difficulties.

The drastic change in the distribution of tax monies which has developed over the last few decades also has been felt; whereas local units used to collect the largest part of the tax dollar, they now get only a small piece of it, while state and federal governments run off with the lion's share. Some of the money that leaves the community trickles back, but not without strings attached to it. Much of the control over local affairs, therefore, has been usurped by state and federal governments.

No change in the form of local government is likely to correct these basic evils. But the fact that city dwellers today apparently are taking a more active interest in civic matters is a good sign—it's a sign that people are beginning to look for ways to correct the present undesirable state of things, and ultimately they are bound to do something about fundamental faults.

WHAT'S THE ORIGIN

Omaha: Where did we get the unlovely sounding word haberdasher?—Mrs. D. B. Answer: One theory is that haberdasher is from an Anglo-French word hapertas, the name of a kind of cloth sold at English notions shops in the 15th century. Another theory is that it is from the Icelandic word hapurtask, "a knapsack." The word haberdasher is obsolete in American usage.

In England, a haberdashery is a store where small wares are sold. In America, the term was once commonly applied to men's furnishing stores.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Putney, Vt.—The class is graduating. The great moment is here. One by one they come forward to get their diplomas. We oldsters in the audience, parents and teachers, can hardly remember what this moment means. It has been obscured, forgotten, buried beneath the experiences of maturity.

But for the young it is a threshold, a beginning. Wonderful and exciting, yet solemn and a little frightening, too. Even an early gloss of surface sophistication does not altogether conceal these emotions.

All over the country it is happening, in preparatory schools such as this one set in the green hills of Vermont, in high schools, in colleges and universities. The young are stepping out into a world that seems, to the older generation at least, to be more alien, more complex, more troubled, than ever before in history.

—ENTER TROUBLED WORLD—

The young graduates are having to listen to the old platitudes. The orators talk about ideals and idealism. Worst of all, they talk about the privilege of youth and how it is the happiest time in life, nothing could be more foolish and false than that. Youth seen through the rosy glow of memory is one thing. The reality is quite a different matter.

We are more fortunate at this graduation because our speaker is Robert Frost, the poet. He speaks without pretension, easily and simply as though in conversation with these young people.

"I met an idealist coming up here on the train," he says in his slow New England speech. "A man came through the train about lunch time and this idealist began to tell him what she wanted to eat. Well, in the end she took what he had and I guess that's what happens to a lot of idealists."

There are signs that this new generation will think harder before taking the old wares. They will not be so easily put off with the familiar platitudes. One sign is the rush to the colleges. Nothing like it has ever happened before, even in this country of mass education. Partly, of course, it's the American desire to get ahead in the world—to get a free education that will mean a profession or the assurance of a well paid job.

But if the reports from the colleges are even partly true, it is more than that. The students today—above all the veterans returning to the classroom—are looking for courses that will help them to understand the world they live in. They are studying economics, government, sociology. On lonely Pacific islands and in the mud and misery of Europe, they had time to do a little thinking. They are looking for the answers to some big questions.

—TEST FOR COLLEGES

For the colleges this is a great test. First of all, it's a quantitative test. The recent report of the office of war mobilization and reconversion on veterans' education estimated that 2,080,000 students will seek to enter college this fall. The pre-war peak was something more than 1,500,000. Of the 970,000 veterans and the 1,110,000 other civilians who will be knocking at college doors this fall, an estimated half million will find no room. That is to say they will find no room unless the states, the municipalities and the colleges "take imaginative and extraordinary steps to meet those problems which they alone can solve," to quote the OWMR report.

Then there's the qualitative test. Educators are worried, and rightly so, over what will happen if education is spread too thin, will what the colleges have to offer be good enough, bold enough, honest enough? These are imponderables. They can't be measured statistically. But I have the feeling that if the colleges flunk this test, they'll be hearing from this generation of students.

The last diploma has been handed out. The whole school is singing with the orchestra. They are singing Handel's "When His Loud Voice in Thunder Spoke." It has an unearthly beauty in these clear, young voices.

From where we sit facing the class, we can see the glow of the setting sun and the line of the distant hills, sharp against the sky. All over the land from Maine to California this is happening. Even we oldsters, when we see our children march across the platform, can remember a little of what it meant.

The men and women who made this country had a deep rooted faith in education. They planted that faith in colleges and academies in every state. But they would be astonished if they could see the rush for education that is on today.

the German Strohwitwe, "a grass widow." Why the "grass," no one now knows. But it certainly did not evolve as a corruption of "grace," for the obvious reason that grass widow entered English from the German in which there is no such word spelled "grace." Etymology is a tricky business—it is no subject for dabblers in words.

San Diego: I've read so much of "beer and skittles." It sounds so appetizing that I'd like to cook some skittles for my husband. What are they and where may I buy them?—Mrs. J. W.

Answer: Broiled, fried or stewed, skittles would prove to be rugged fare for your husband. Skittles is an English game similar to ten pins. The game is played in a skittles alley, where the skittles are set up like the pins in a bowling alley.

"Beer and skittles" is a British expression equivalent to the American "life of Riley." It is expressive of an ideal existence in which one may drink and play (skittles) to one's heart's content. As Thomas Hughes wrote in Tom Brown's School-days: "Life isn't all beer and skittles; but beer and skittles, or something better of the same sort, must form a good part of every Englishman's education."

There Seem to Be Two Schools of Thought

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

THE BIG MONEY—It is interesting to note that Americans are willing to contribute more to the earnings of persons who entertain them than those who provide them with more utilitarian services.

For instance, Lee O. McCarey, Hollywood film producer-director, "earned" $1,113,035 in 1944, heading the list of top-flight wage earners in the United States, it is reported from Washington. Second in the big-salary field was Charles H. Strub, vice president of the Los Angeles Turf Club, with a modest $466,537.

Among the women whose salaries were the largest in the country in 1944 were Carmen Miranda, Paulette Goddard and Betty Grable, whose earnings ranged from $172,000 to $201,458. If by this time you have the idea that these folks are being over-paid, you are probably right. At the same time, their income is not so stupendous when you consider what comes out of those salaries in federal, state and other taxes. These taxes trim the actual cash by from 50 to 90 per cent. At the same time it's a lot of money to receive for amusing people in the theater or on the race track.

ISLAND IN PICTURES—Escanaba folks who may visit Mackinac Island this summer will have the opportunity to meet a former Escanaba resident, Miss Alice McKeever, who is opening "The Studio" shop at the resort island. While at the island this summer Miss McKeever will be on leave of absence from her work with the Map Service company of Chicago, for whom she was engaged in drawing maps during the war. She has also been designer and supervisor for the Chicago park district in the Field Museum of Natural History. At her studio on Mackinac Island Miss McKeever will present photographic landscapes of the island at various seasons of the year, and portraits of Mackinac people.

ALMOST HERE—In the event you have been in doubt whether there would be summer at all this year, it is reassuring to know that summertime will officially arrive at 7:45 p. m. Friday.

At that hour the sun, which has been moving northward through the sky since last December, will reach its northernmost position, according to those who have an interest in such things. Our only interest at this writing is to have the sun come out, warm, cordial and beaming, and lay its healing finger on the frost-shriveled tips of the bush beans in our garden.

But to continue: The sun will rise earlier and set later tomorrow than at any other time of the year for the people in the northern hemisphere, thus it will be the longest day of the year. Because the sun is farther north it is higher in the sky at noon. The sun's rays, which shine on the ground more nearly vertically than in winter when the sun is far south, will give us a greater amount of the sun's heat and make the coming months the warmest of the year.

That's the story presented by the scientists. So far this year the sun has had about as much

New York—Birth of an eight-pound son to Mrs. Gene Tunney, wife of the former world's heavyweight champion, was announced this afternoon.

John Keaton of Munising received a fracture of the left wrist and minor cuts about 4:30 p. m. Wednesday when the car in which he was driving overturned while trying to avoid hitting a man on the Bay Shore Drive at Gladstone.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Derouin, 204 North 12th street, are the parents of a son, born Wednesday at St. Francis hospital.

At one of the charmingly appointed weddings of the month, which took place Tuesday morning at St. Joseph's church, Leona Elizabeth Roberts, daughter of Mrs. Adeline Roberts, 816 First Avenue south, became the bride of Edward M. Finn, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Finn, 315 North 12th street.

Thomas Servant, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Servant, met with an accident recently when he was caught in the wheel of a delivery wagon and was whirled around a number of times before the wagon was stopped.

Word has been received in Manistique of the birth of twin boys to Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilcox of Detroit. Mrs. Wilcox was formerly Miss Alva Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Reid of Manistique.

WRECKLESS WRITING—Outside the newspaper profession it is the opinion that newspapers reporters have a way with words which is seldom equaled by the layman. At the same time, these lay people chortle every time the reporter is caught with his grammatical slip showing.

The opportunity came the other day in a headline over a Munising story. The headline read: WRECKLESS DRIVERS ARE GIVEN WARNING

CASE IN POINT—It has often been the contention of bridegrooms that once they pop the question and the girl says yes, they are thereafter laid away in mothballs to be preserved for their appearance at the church. Otherwise they are of little use or importance.

This condition of the male party of the second part was brought forcibly to the attention of one bride who submitted a wedding information blank to the Daily Press office this month. She brought the information blank in herself following the ceremony, made certain that all of the details concerning the wedding were set down. There was a description of the bride, the names of the parents, the names of the attendants, the name of the pastor. Yes, everything was in order. The society editor looked it over again. "What," she asked, pointing a pencil to the proper space on the

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—This column is now able to publish for the first time what may prove to be one of the most historic letters Franklin Roosevelt ever wrote. Hitherto it has been secret. The letter was sent to Secretary of War Stimson in the late summer of 1944, just as the U. S. Army was rolling over Normandy and as the War Department was first beginning to worry about governing Germany.

Today, as the foreign ministers debate the peace in Paris, much of what Roosevelt warned against has been ignored. The letter was inspired by the Army's "handbook for defeated Germany."

"It gives me the impression," Roosevelt wrote Stimson, "that Germany is to be restored just as much as the Netherlands or Belgium, and the people of Germany brought back as quickly as possible to their pre-war estate."

"It is of the utmost importance that every person in Germany should realize that this time Germany is a defeated nation . . . the fact that they are a defeated nation, collectively and individually, must be so impressed upon them that they will hesitate to start any new war."

"There exists a school of thought both in London and here which would, in effect, do for Germany what this government did for its own citizens in 1933 when they were flat on their backs. I see no reason for starting a WPA, a PWA, or a CCC for Germany when we go in with our army of occupation."

"Too many people here and in England hold to the view that the German people as a whole are not responsible for what has taken place—that only a few Nazi leaders are responsible. That, unfortunately, is not based on fact. The German people as a whole must have it driven home to them that the whole nation has been engaged in a lawless conspiracy against the decencies of modern civilization."

—FDR'S WARNING IGNORED—
Today, one year after the end of the war with Germany, few people realize how drastically FDR's policy has been scuttled. Part of this is due to lack of Russian cooperation; part to the zeal of U. S. commanders to make their zone of Germany function; perhaps part is the result of a deliberate plan, inspired by certain army men and certain U. S. cartels once operating in Germany.

Two of the most dangerous developments are: 1. Greater and greater use of former Nazis in governing Germany. They now have the job of distributing clothes, running the railroads, teaching schools, even the de-Nazification program; so that former Nazis now have complete responsibility for settling the claims of Jews and non-Nazis whose property was seized by Hitler.

2. U. S. authorities plan to revitalize and strengthen the German currency. So far, this is a closely guarded secret. However, U. S. occupation authorities propose to replace German marks at the rate of ten old to one new, which would do much to make Germany economically stronger.

Those few who know of this plan feel that it is in direct contradiction to Roosevelt's warning against doing "for Germany what this government did for its own citizens in 1933 when they were flat on their backs."

—EVERYBODY GETS HIS—
Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma last week diverted his attention from the cotton and rye markets long enough to introduce an amendment to the OPA bill removing price ceilings on timber, petroleum, cotton, milk, livestock, tobacco, poultry, fish, grain, fruits, and vegetables.

This caused Connecticut's Senator Brien McMahon to remark: "You can't beat that one."

"Why not?" asked Senator Tom Stewart of Tennessee.

"Because," replied McMahon, "Elmer's got something in there for every member of the senate."

In this case, though, the amendment was beaten. However, it was about the only crippling amendment to the OPA which was voted down during a session in which big business lobbies got almost everything they wanted.

—CIO MURRAY THREATENS CIO BRIDGES—

The two men chiefly responsible for the settlement of the maritime strike were able John W. Gibson, assistant secretary of labor, who worked night and day, and CIO president Phil Murray, whose two-fisted pleas to maritime union chiefs did more than anything else to avert the strike.

Inside fact is that union leaders had agreed there would be no strike before the negotiations got under way. But Harry Bridges and other leftist leaders reneged on this agreement and up to the very last were demanding a walkout.

Inside fact also is that there is still a deep cleft in maritime labor between factions led by Bridges on the one hand and Joe Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, on the other, despite the joint statement of solidarity just signed by Bridges and Curran.

Solidly behind Curran is CIO president Murray. Murray kept insisting all through the negotiations that a maritime strike would give the CIO a bad name.

"I will not have a maritime strike at this time charged up to the CIO," Murray angrily told Bridges.

"If you succeed in staging a strike I'll disown you publicly, Harry Bridges," Murray warned, "and I'll do my best to throw you out of the CIO."

There is one simple way to add to your face value—SMILE!

GEO. GIRRBACH IS NOMINATED State Senator Is Again Chosen By District Republicans

George Girrbach, Sault Ste. Marie incumbent, won the Republican nomination for state senator from the 30th district in Tuesday's primary.

With all but 10 precincts in the district reporting, the vote in the three-cornered contest was as follows: George Girrbach, 4161; Harry Buchman, Rapid River, 2702; William A. Ellsworth, St. Ignace, 2559.

Missing precincts included seven in Chippewa county and three in Menominee county. These precincts quite likely would increase Girrbach's lead, the voting trend indicated.

Pedestrian Struck, Injured In Another Auto Accident Here

Edward Beauchamp, 71, of 927 Sheridan Road, was struck and injured, though probably not seriously, by a sedan driven by Joseph Preston of Wells, shortly after noon Tuesday in the 900 block of Sheridan Road. Preston took the elderly man to St. Francis hospital and later Beauchamp was allowed to return to his home.

According to city police officers, Preston was driving north on the road and applied his brakes and swerved in an effort to avoid hitting the pedestrian but struck Beauchamp near the west curb of the street.

In another accident, the fourth on Tuesday, a sedan driven by Eli W. Karvonen, Detroit, struck the side of a truck driven by Ben Madalia, 320 South Ninth street, near the intersection of Third Avenue south and 13th street. Karvonen was driving north on the street and Madalia west on the avenue. Both machines were slightly damaged.

Coast Guard Saves Small Sail Boat In High Wind On Bay

Herbert Nelson, 24, of 1125 Lake Shore Drive, and his 14-foot cat boat were rescued about 7 o'clock Tuesday evening off Portage Point in Little Bay de Noc by Capt. Dan Garrett of the Coast Guard lighthouse at Escanaba, who saw the small sail boat in difficulty and went out with the lighthouse launch.

Nelson recently purchased the boat in Gladstone and brought it to Escanaba. Tuesday evening he sailed out of the yacht basin before a 27-mile-an-hour north wind but was unable to return when the boom came loose and fouled the sail. Nelson was sailing alone. Capt. Garrett towed the boat back to the harbor.

It was reported yesterday that no major changes in the count, compared with unofficial figures, had been discovered and that it appeared that nominees for coun-

Third member of the commission is Edward LaMotte Sr. of Garden, and County Clerk J. Theodore Ohlen is clerk of the commission.

The tabulation of unofficial figures for Delta county on offices in which there were contests was completed yesterday when the vote for Ensign township was received. Heart Breaker Lost By Cincinnati To New York, 4 and 3

New York, June 19 (P)—Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell, an ex-GI who pitched his division to the Third Army championship, dropped a heart-breaking 4-3 verdict to the New York Giants today after throwing no-hit, no-run ball for the first six innings.

Only two balls were hit to the outfield off the prize rookie up to the seventh when he blew sky high and allowed all four scores on a combination of four walks, a hit batsman, a single and triple. He yielded only one other safety.

Blackwell had walked two men and struck out four in the six inning no-hit job until he passed Goody Rosen to open the fatal seventh. Johnny Rucker broke the charm by singling to right center and both men advanced when Dain Clay fumbled the ball. After Johnny Mize stroled to load the bases, Walker Cooper forced Mize at second, Rosen scoring the first Giant run. Willard Marshall fouled to Grady Hatton but Sid Gordon tied the count with a triple to center, driving home Rucker and Cooper.

Rookie Shuts Out Pittsburgh, 7 to 0

Brooklyn, June 19 (P)—Joe Hatten, Brooklyn's highly touted rookie pitcher, made up for some early season disappointments today by shutting out Pittsburgh, 7-0, on seven base hits.

Coming at a time when manager Leo Durocher was casting around recklessly looking for a hurler who could go the route, Hatten's performance was doubly welcome for he had been knocked out or beaten in his last six outings.

The Brooks lost no time in hopping on Preacher Roe, Pittsburgh's opening lefthander, and piled up four runs in the first inning on two hits in a baseball version of an Olsen and Johnson comedy. The Bucs helped the cause with three of their five errors for the day.
Pittsburgh 000 000 000—0 7 5.
Brooklyn 400 002 10x—7 9 0.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Coach Oscar Wassberg has not abandoned his plan to stage an Upper Peninsula all-star football game in Negaunee this summer and has forwarded requests to coaches to submit names and information concerning outstanding linemen and ball carriers. However, the status of the all-star game is shaky and the odds are weighted heavily against his chances of staging the football show this summer. A definite announcement on whether the event will or will not be held may be made in the next week or so.

According to unofficial reports, the opposition of the state department of interscholastic athletics to the proposed all-star game is emphatic. C. E. Forsythe, state director, is reported to have insisted that the proposed event be abandoned forthwith and to have threatened to establish and invoke rules that would force high school coaches in the peninsula to wash their hands of the event—or else. There is no rule in effect at present that could handle the situation, according to the grapevine, but Mr. Forsythe is reported to have indicated that he would draft one pronto, if this all-star business ever got serious.

There hasn't been a home run at the Escanaba baseball park this season, but there may be some in the games yet to be played. A snow-fence barrier will be erected around the outfield this week to establish a definite target for the clouters to shoot at. The distance to the left and right field foul lines will be 320 feet and to the centerfield fence, it will require a clout of 380 feet for a four-bagger. These are lusty blows, but the fence is only four feet high.

Chicago, June 19 (P)—The Chicago Sun said tonight that James J. Dykes, former Chicago White Sox manager, Bill Veeck Jr., and Harry Grabner, former White Sox vice-president, will take possession of the Cleveland Indians "within the next few days."

Indians made their war bonnets from the tall feathers of the golden eagle.

TRUCKS BLANKS ATHLETICS, 3-0

Tigers Stretch String Over Last Placers To 8 Straight

BY FRANK KENESSON

Detroit, June 19 (P)—The Detroit Tigers stretched their mastery over last place Philadelphia to eight straight games today as Virgil (Fire) Trucks blanked the A's 3 to 0 by scattering a half dozen hits.

A twilight crowd of 12,413 paid saw the Tigers score an unearned run on Shortstop Johnny Wallace's wide throw in the second inning and then rattle five straight hits off Russ Christopher in the sixth for the other two.

Pat Mullin singled off Christopher's glove with one away in the second, moved to second on an infield out and took third as Birdie Tebbetts beat out an infield hit. When Wallace threw wild trying to get Tebbetts at first Mullin came in to score.

Successful singles by Dick Wakefield, Hank Greenberg, Mullin, Jimmy Bloodworth and Tebbetts were good for only two runs in the Tiger sixth but forced Christopher to retire with his fourth defeat. Joe Savage and Dick Fowler pitched hitless ball the rest of the way.

Trucks fanned nine in achieving his eighth victory and had the A's popping up to such an extent that Greenberg had only five putouts at first, two of them on pop outs.

Out At Plate
Mullin had three hits, two of them infield safeties, to lead the Tigers' eight-hit attack.

His perfect bunt in the sixth—intended for a sacrifice after Wakefield and Greenberg had singled with nobody out—didn't even draw a throw. Bloodworth then drove a fly between the outfielders for a single, driving in Wakefield, but Greenberg was out at the plate trying to score from second. Mullin scored on Tebbetts' single and Savage came in to retire Trucks and Eddie Lake on infield pops.

The Tigers didn't have anything resembling a hit off Fowler in the last two innings.

The first four of the Athletics' hits all came after two were out and Trucks really didn't have to bear down until Gene Handley led off the seventh with a double. Wallace fouled to Tebbetts and Irvin Hall, batting for Savage, walked. Then with men on first and second Trucks got Elmer Valo with a called third strike and Russ Derry on a pop foul to break up the threat.

Paul (Dizzy) Trout was Detroit's pitching nominee for the second and final game of the series Thursday, opposing either Luther Knerr or Jesse Flores of the A's.

Maddy Told NBC Has No Time For Music Broadcast

Chicago, June 18 (P)—The Chicago Tribune tonight quoted Dr. Joseph E. Maddy as saying the National Broadcasting company had informed him it has no place on its summer schedule for the National Music camp broadcast, which NBC carried for years.

Dr. Maddy, founder and director of the camp, which opens June 30 at Interlochen, said he had written to NBC on May 31 suggesting that the camp broadcast be resumed "now that the LEA bill has broken Petrillo's control over the broadcasting industry."

The camp broadcast was banned in 1942 by order of James C. Petrillo, head of the AFL American Federation of Musicians.

MISS FORTUNE, ONE OF COUNTRY'S MOST FORTUNATE GIRLS!!!

Boston, Mass.—Society eagerly awaits the debut of Miss Puritania Fortune, considered by many the luckiest girl in America. Not only is she a member of one of Boston's finest families, not only is she ravishingly beautiful, and extremely talented, but by the terms of her last year's agreement she is due to inherit $35,000,000 on her 19th birthday, providing she is married by that date—and it's a cinch she will be, she has suitors galore—as what girl with all that cabbage wouldn't?

Regular Council Meeting Scheduled For This Evening

In the absence of City Manager A. V. Aronson, who is in Montreal attending the International City Managers' annual conference, City Engineer Loren E. Jenkins will present the agenda at the regular meeting of the city council at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the city hall.

The others include: final action on the lease with the Solar Manufacturing company which was tentatively agreed upon at the last council meeting; consideration of purchase of a compost mixing machine; possible action on recommended insurance change on city buildings and their contents; re-consideration of bids on city property north of the Fence Company of America; second reading of rate ordinance; opening of bids on a lot in the I.
